January GIC On the Markets

We transition into the New Year standing in an interesting spot:

- The directional basics of the Fed policy pivot are behind us;
- The probability of a recession is increasing, though contrasted with a robust labor market and strong private sector balance sheets;
- Inflation has become nuanced depending on whether we're looking at goods vs. services; and
- Corporate earnings are vulnerable to disappoint.

This material has been prepared for informational purposes only. It does not provide individually tailored investment advice. It has been prepared without regard to the individual financial circumstances and objectives of persons who receive it. Morgan Stanley Smith Barney LLC ("Morgan Stanley") recommends that investors independently evaluate particular investments and strategies, and encourages investors to seek the advice of a Morgan Stanley Financial Advisor. The appropriateness of a particular investment or strategy will depend on an investor's individual circumstances and objectives. Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Because of their narrow focus, sector investments tend to be more volatile than investments that diversify across many sectors and companies.

Morgan Stanley Smith Barney LLC ("Morgan Stanley"), its affiliates and Morgan Stanley Financial Advisors or Private Wealth Advisors do not provide tax or legal advice. Individuals should consult their tax advisor for matters involving taxation and tax planning and their attorney for matters involving trusts, estate planning, charitable giving, philanthropic planning or other legal matters.
