As summer comes to a close and the fall season begins, we are reminded that periods of transition often bring both opportunity and renewed focus. For the students and families in our community, we extend our best wishes for a successful and fulfilling academic year ahead.

This month's newsletter highlights several important developments at the intersection of markets, technology, and daily life. We examine nuclear energy's growing momentum as technological progress drives increasing demand, the role of artificial intelligence in reshaping the future of transportation, and practical strategies to strengthen cybersecurity—particularly relevant for students returning to college.

Should you have any questions about these insights or wish to review how these trends may relate to your financial plan, please do not hesitate to reach out. Our team is here to support you with guidance and clarity in the season ahead.
