A little bit about Eric; He graduated from the University of Denver in 2023 with a degree in Economics and previously worked on the institutional side of finance. He is a Santa Fe native with roots in Chihuahua, Mexico where he spent many summers growing up and still visits often. Outside the office, he enjoys cooking out/grilling, keeping up with sports, playing guitar and spending time with his family.

Eric can help you with general operational questions regarding your account. This includes items such as check requests, transfers of funds, deposit inquiries and statement questions.

Please don't hesitate to swing by the office and say "hello" and introduce yourself to Eric if you are in the area (we'll validate your parking).

If you have any concerns regarding your account, please do not hesitate to contact us by phone or E-mail.

Market Commentary

As we get to the end of this year, the markets have turned out well and maybe better than expected. Our MS Chief US Equity Strategist Mike Wilson recently published his 2026 Equities Outlook. He raised the 2025 S&P 500 price-target to 7800, where the S&P currently sits around 6800.¹ This incorporates higher Earnings-Per-Share than others are forecasting and a broadening increase of market leadership (vs. concentrated in a few names). Key themes include positive corporate operations, greater pricing power, AI driven efficiency gains, accommodative tax and regulatory policies and contained interest rates.²
