What is a 1031 Exchange?

Named after section 1031 of the U.S. Internal revenue code, a 1031 exchange is a procedure that allows an owner of appreciated real estate to exchange that property for an alternative “like-kind” property while deferring capital gains.

CAPITAL-GAINS TAX DEFERRAL AND OTHER BENEFITS

When a real estate investor wants to sell one property and buy another, the primary benefit of doing so through a 1031 exchange is the ability to defer capital gains taxes. Thus, the higher the capital gains bill that an investor faces, the more they would potentially gain.

While real estate investing offers many benefits, appreciated commercial property can also present investors with difficult choices when selling implies a large capital-gains tax bill. Knowing how to invest in a tax-efficient manner can have a significant impact on the value of those benefits, and 1031 exchanges are one of the most tax-efficient investment vehicles available to real estate investors.

A 1031 EXCHANGE MAY ENABLE INVESTORS TO:

Increase purchasing power in the replacement property by freeing up capital

Diversify assets

Consolidate several properties into one, or divide one into several

Gain the flexibility of owning shares in a portfolio of real estate in place of direct property ownership

Sell a real estate investment with a low cost basis

Bequeath their assets and take advantage of the step-up in tax basis

Move to a passive role, reduce ongoing property management burdens or switch to a managed property

Seek a property with better return prospects

Capitalize on the value of appreciated assets

Reset the depreciation clock

Maximize the amount of wealth working for them

A 1031 EXCHANGE MAY HAVE:

- A high minimum investment
- Low liquidity for at least three years (potentially longer)
- Require the help of tax, real estate and potentially estate planning professionals
- Single property risk
- Nonpermanent solution
- Difficulty around estate planning (divisibility among heirs)

Morgan Stanley Smith Barney LLC, its affiliates and Morgan Stanley Financial Advisors and Private Wealth Advisors do not provide tax or legal advice. Individuals are encouraged to consult their tax and legal advisors.

How Does a 1031 Exchange Work?

1031 Exchanges Require the Use of a Qualified Intermediary and Have Complex Rules Around Property Type, Value and Timing

NECESSITY OF A QUALIFIED INTERMEDIARY

A qualified intermediary creates the exchange, prepares documentation, holds exchange proceeds and protects the investor from actual or constructive receipt of exchange funds. The exchange must be set up through a qualified intermediary prior to the sale in order to maintain tax-deferral eligibility

LIKE-KIND PROPERTY OF EQUAL OR GREATER VALUE

Both the relinquished and replacement properties must be held as investments or for productive use in a business and do not have to be the same property type

- Examples: Rental houses, apartments, shopping centers, unimproved land, office buildings, warehouses, investment homes or beneficial interests in a Delaware statutory trust (DST)
- Personal property and real estate outside the U.S. do not qualify

DEADLINES

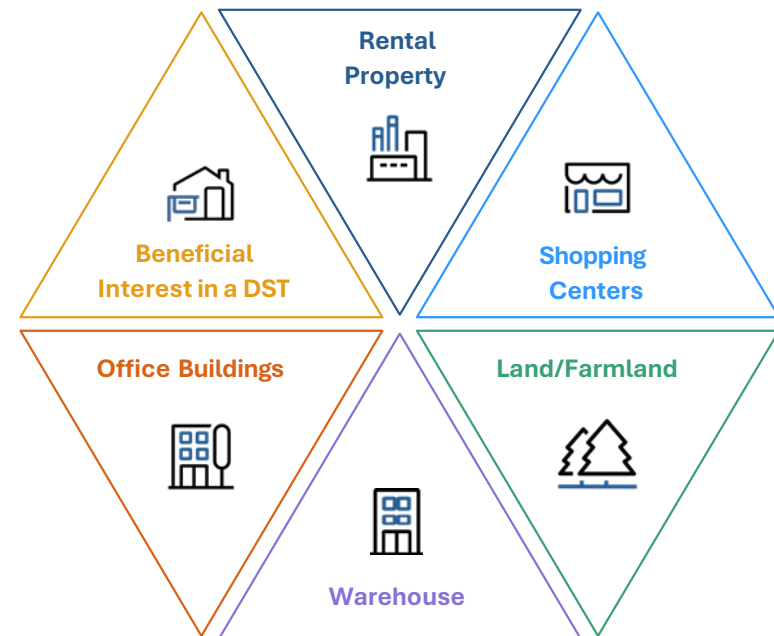

Investors must identify potential replacement properties within 45 days of selling the relinquished property, and must acquire the replacement property or properties within 180 days

IDENTIFYING PROPERTIES BY 45-DAY MARK

- You can identify up to three replacement properties as potential purchases regardless of value, or
- Can exceed three properties so long as their aggregate value is 200% or less of the relinquished property, or
- Exceed both above rules so long as you acquire 95% of the value of the identified properties within the 180-day exchange period

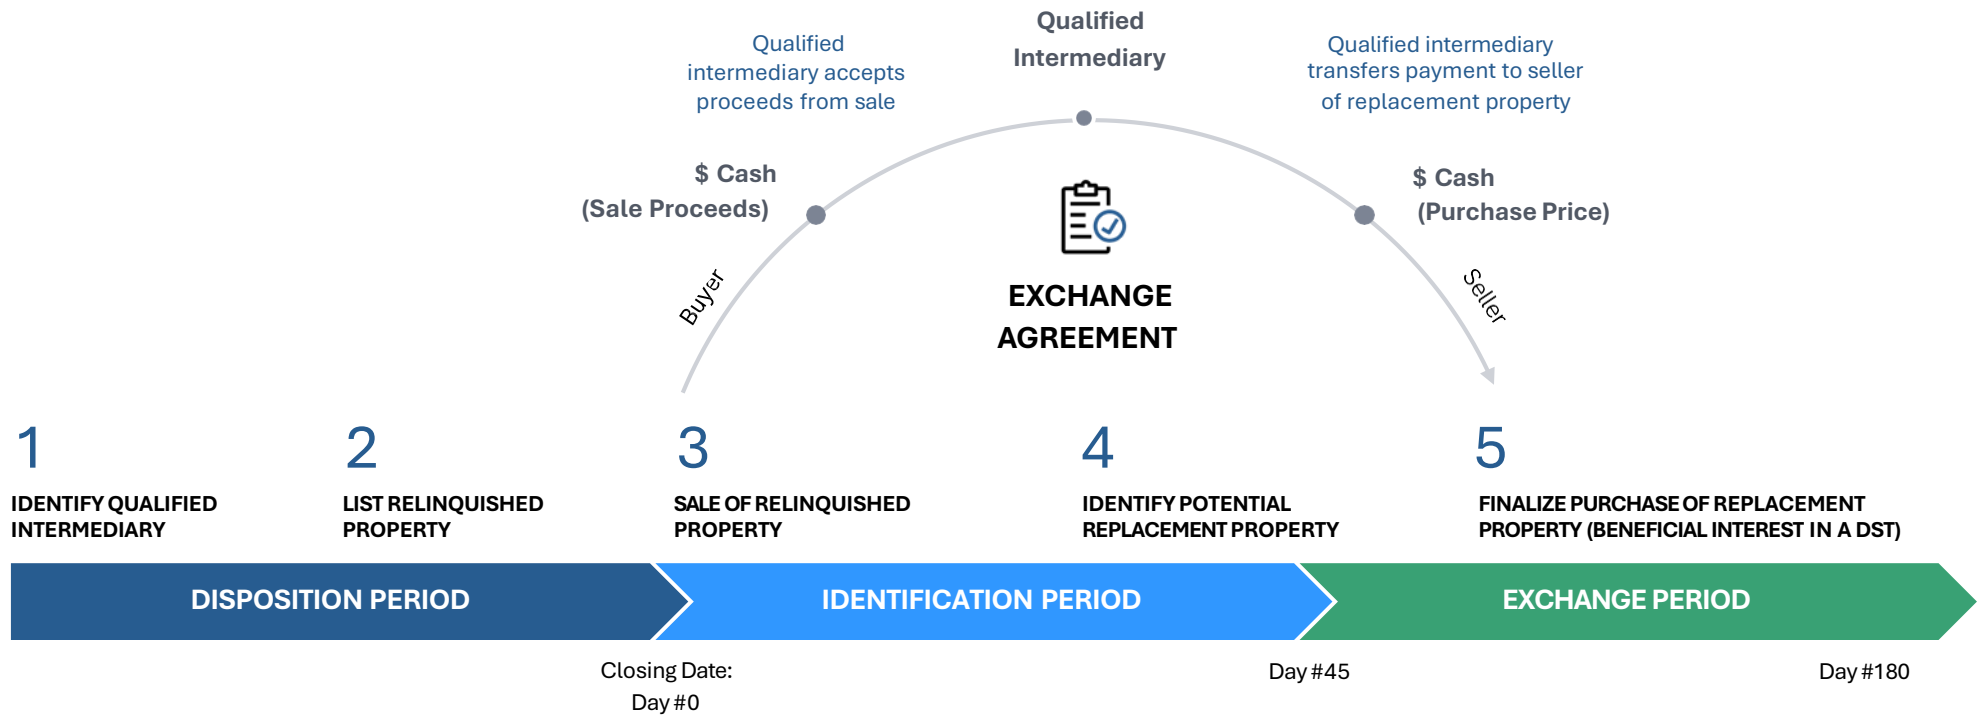

REINVEST NET PROCEEDS AND REPLACE DEBT

All net proceeds from the relinquished property must be reinvested for full tax deferral, and any debt paid off by the buyer must be offset with new debt used to acquire the replacement property. If the paid-off debt is not fully offset, investors may be required to use additional cash to acquire the replacement property

Morgan Stanley Smith Barney LLC, its affiliates and Morgan Stanley Financial Advisors and Private Wealth Advisors do not provide tax or legal advice. Individuals are encouraged to consult their tax and legal advisors. Past performance is no guarantee of future results. The 1031 Exchange Cycle

Whether the replacement property is real estate or a beneficial interest in a DST, the exchange must flow through a qualified intermediary who holds the proceeds from the sale of the property during the process

Investors must identify potential replacement properties within 45 days of selling the relinquished property, and must acquire the replacement property or properties within 180 days

Morgan Stanley Smith Barney LLC, its affiliates and Morgan Stanley Financial Advisors and Private Wealth Advisors do not provide tax or legal advice. Individuals are encouraged to consult their tax and legal advisors. Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Exchanging Into a Delaware Statutory Trust

Section 1031 Allows Not Only Direct Property Exchanges, But Also Exchanges From a Single Property Into a Delaware Statutory Trust (DST).

WHAT IS A DST?

BENEFICIAL OWNERSHIP INTEREST IN INSTITUTIONAL-QUALITY REPLACEMENT PROPERTY

A DST is a trust that owns large, institutional-quality property

The IRS has ruled that beneficial interests in a DST may be treated as direct interests in replacement property for purposes of IRC Section 1031

Investors receive a stated income stream backed by a guaranteed fixed master lease

WHO IS A DST POTENTIALLY APPROPRIATE FOR?

A DST MAY BE PARTICULARLY APPROPRIATE FOR INVESTORS WHO ...

Are unsure they can find and acquire replacement property within the stringent time requirements of 1031 exchanges

Have grown tired of actively managing their own investment property and would prefer to switch to a more passive role

Seek access to institutional-quality real estate that they may not be able to acquire directly

BENEFITS OF EXCHANGING INTO A DST

BY EXCHANGING INTO A DELAWARE STATUTORY TRUST, INVESTORS GAIN ...

Access to institutional-quality real estate

Deferral of capital gains taxes

Professional property management

Potential passive rental income

Pre-arranged financing (if applicable)

Potential for appreciation

Ease in complying with IRC Section 1031 requirements

Tax benefits of traditional investment in real estate

UPREIT: The 721 Exchange Option

For investors looking to achieve greater diversification and active management than a typical DST can provide, an Umbrella Partnership Real Estate Investment Trust (UPREIT) is a program that combines both a 1031 and a 721 exchange to provide the benefits of owning shares in a Real Estate Investment Trust (REIT).

WHAT IS A 721 EXCHANGE?

Section 721 allows investors to contribute property to a REIT's operating partnership (OP) in exchange for OP units, without paying capital gains.

In order for an investor to contribute property to a REIT through a 721 exchange, the property must typically be institutional-grade quality. Few individual investors own this type of property

By exchanging a property that does not meet a REIT's criteria for a DST interest in institutional-grade property through a 1031 exchange, an investor can contribute that DST interest to a REIT in a tax-deferred 721 exchange

This enables investors to defer capital gains taxes without needing to find another 1031 property

WHAT ARE THE BENEFITS?

By buying into a REIT, investors gain...

Access to a professionally managed, diversified portfolio of institutional-quality real estate

Upon death, receipt by heirs of a stepped-up basis in OP units, which erases the tax-deferment debt (i.e., permanent tax deferral)

Simplified estate planning among multiple heirs, as dividing shares in the REIT is often easier than liquidating physical real estate

Potential for liquidity benefits after 2 years in the REIT stage, when an investor can pull their original basis out as return of principal. This allows the investor to reinvest that original basis back into another piece of real estate

Full divisibility of OP units

Actively managed portfolio

Continuing deferral of capital gains taxes

Greater diversification

The UPREIT Process

The UPREIT process uses two distinct steps—the 1031 exchange and the 721 exchange. Taken together, this allows investors the ability to convert their investment property ultimately into operating partnership units of a nationally syndicated REIT portfolio.

A TWO-STEP PROCESS

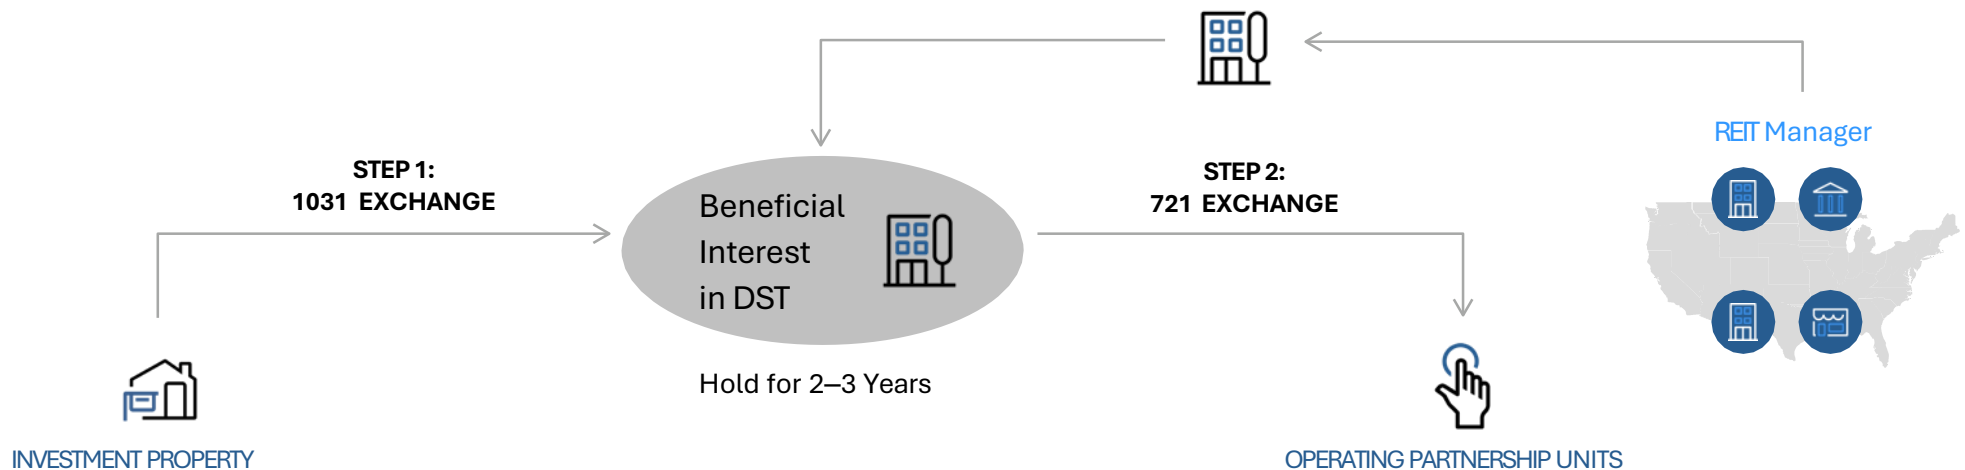

Investors without institutional-quality real estate can combine 1031 and 721 exchanges. Neither step triggers capital gains taxes.

1031 exchange: An investor swaps their original, nonqualifying property for shares in a Delaware statutory trust (DST)

721 exchange: The REIT can exercise an option to purchase one or more properties held in the DST at fair market value, for which the investor receives OP units in the REIT. The REIT typically owns a diversified portfolio of properties across asset types and geographic locations

How Important is Real Estate Manager Selection?

In many prior years, the performance spread between top and bottom quartile real estate managers has been large. Even the difference between top-performing managers and the median has often been substantial. When selecting a private real estate fund, manager selection is one of the most important criteria.

With the average difference between top and bottom quartile annualized returns at 13.3%, comprehensive manager due diligence can provide a meaningful difference in investor returns.

GOAL IS TO CAPTURE THE UPSIDE OF SELECTING TOP-QUARTILE MANAGERS

Data from funds established in 2022 & 2023 is considered not meaningful due to the early stage of investment. 2. Vintage year is defined as the first year that a private real estate fund draws down or “calls” committed capital.

In addition to the general risks associated with real estate investments, REIT investing entails other risks such as credit and interest rate risk. Real estate investment risks can include fluctuations in the value of underlying properties; defaults by borrowers or tenants; market saturation; changes in general and local economic conditions; decreases in market rates for rents; increases in competition, property taxes, capital expenditures, or operating expenses; and other economic, political or regulatory occurrences affecting the real estate industry.

Risks Associated With Investing

Investing in the markets entails the risk of market volatility. The value of all types of investments, including stocks, mutual funds, exchange-traded funds ("ETFs"), closed-end funds, and unit investment trusts, may increase or decrease over varying time periods. Please carefully consider the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses of investment fund(s) before investing. The fund prospectus contains this and other information about the fund(s). To obtain a prospectus, contact your financial advisor. Please read the prospectus carefully before investing. There is no assurance that investment funds will achieve their investment objectives. Besides the general investment risk of holding securities that may decline in value and the possible loss of principal invested, closed-end funds may have additional risks related to declining market prices relative to net asset values (NAVs), active manager underperformance and potential leverage. To the extent the investments depicted herein represent international securities, you should be aware that there may be additional risks associated with international investing, including foreign economic, political, monetary and/or legal factors, changing currency exchange rates, foreign taxes, and differences in financial and accounting standards. These risks may be magnified in emerging markets and frontier markets. Some funds also invest in foreign securities, which may involve currency risk. Equity securities may fluctuate in response to news on companies, industries, market conditions and general economic environment. Companies paying dividends can reduce or cut payouts at any time. Small- and mid-capitalization companies may lack the financial resources, product diversification and competitive strengths of larger companies. In addition, the securities of small- and mid-capitalization companies may not trade as readily as, and be subject to higher volatility than, those of larger, more established companies. Growth investing does not guarantee a profit or eliminate risk. Growth stocks can trade at relatively high valuations which may increase risk compared with an investment in a company with more modest growth expectations. Value investing does not guarantee a profit or eliminate risk. Not all companies deemed value stocks are able to turn around their business or successfully execute corrective strategies, and their stock prices may not rise as initially expected.

The value of fixed income securities will fluctuate and, upon a sale, may be worth more or less than their original cost or value at maturity. Bonds are subject to interest rate risk, call risk, reinvestment risk, liquidity risk, and credit risk of the issuer. Yields may change with economic conditions and should be considered alongside other factors when making investment decisions. Credit ratings are subject to change. High yield bonds carry additional risks, including increased risk of default and greater volatility due to lower credit quality of the issues. In the case of municipal bonds, income is generally exempt from federal income taxes, though some income may be subject to state and local taxes and to the federal alternative minimum tax. Capital gains, if any, are subject to tax. Treasury Inflation Protection Securities (TIPS) adjust coupon payments and underlying principal to compensate for inflation in line with the consumer price index (CPI). While the real rate of return is guaranteed, TIPS typically offer lower returns and may significantly underperform conventional U.S. Treasuries during periods of low inflation. There is no guarantee that investors will receive par if TIPS are sold prior to maturity. The Ultrashort-term fixed income asset class consists of high-quality securities with very short maturities and is therefore still subject to the risks associated with debt securities such as credit and interest rate risk.

Money Market Funds: You could lose money in money market funds. Although government money market funds (defined as investing 99.5% of total assets in cash and/or securities backed by the U.S. government) and retail funds (defined as money market funds open to natural person investors only) seek to preserve value at $1.00 per share, they cannot guarantee doing so. The price of other money market funds will fluctuate, and when you sell shares they may be worth more or less than originally paid. Money market funds may impose a fee upon sale or temporarily suspend sales if liquidity falls below required minimums. During suspensions, shares would not be available for purchases, withdrawals, check writing or ATM debits. A money market fund investment is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or other government agency. The Fund's sponsor has no legal obligation to provide financial support to the Fund and investors should not expect that the sponsor will provide financial support to the Fund at any time.

Investing in Commodities: Commodity prices may be affected by factors such as supply and demand, government policies, domestic or international political and economic events (including war or terrorism), changes in interest and exchange rates, trading activity in commodities and related contracts, pestilence, technological developments, weather, price volatility, and liquidity constraints. Physical precious metals are speculative, non-regulated products that may experience short- and long-term price volatility. Precious metals do not make interest or dividend payments and therefore may not be appropriate for investors who require current income. Precious metals must be stored, which may impose additional costs on investors.

Master Limited Partnerships (MLPs): Investments in MLPs are subject to the risks generally applicable to companies in the energy and natural resources sectors, including commodity price fluctuations, supply and demand imbalances, resource depletion and exploration risk. MLPs also carry interest rate risk and may underperform in rising interest rate environments. In addition, MLP funds accrue deferred income taxes on net operating gains and capital appreciation; as a result their after-tax performance could differ significantly from that of its underlying assets.

Exchange Funds are private placement vehicles that enable holders of concentrated single-stock positions to exchange those stocks for a diversified portfolio. Investors may benefit from greater diversification.

Alternative investments are often speculative and include a high degree of risk. Investors can lose all or a substantial amount of their investment. They are appropriate only for eligible, long-term investors willing to forgo liquidity and put capital at risk for an indefinite period. They are often illiquid, may employ leverage, short-selling, or other speculative practices that increase volatility and risk of loss, and may require large minimum investments and initial lock-ups. Alternative investments may also involve complex tax structures, tax-inefficient investing, and delays in distributing important tax documents. Clients should consult their own tax and legal advisors, as Morgan Stanley Wealth Management does not provide tax or legal advice. They also typically carry higher fees and expenses than traditional investments, which can reduce overall returns.

Sector investments, due to their narrow focus, tend to be more volatile than broadly diversified investments. Non-diversified portfolios: Portfolios that hold a concentrated number of securities may experience greater overall declines when those securities lose value compared with more diversified portfolios. Portfolios that invest heavily in one or a few industry sectors are more vulnerable to price fluctuations than those diversified across a wider range of sectors.

Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) investments in a portfolio may experience performance that is lower or higher than a portfolio not employing such practices. Portfolios with ESG restrictions and strategies as well as ESG investments may not be able to take advantage of the same opportunities or market trends as portfolios where ESG criteria is not applied. There are inconsistent ESG definitions and criteria within the industry, as well as multiple ESG ratings providers that provide ESG ratings of the same subject companies and/or securities that vary among the providers. Certain issuers of investments may have inconsistent views concerning ESG criteria where the ESG claims made in offering documents or other literature may overstate ESG impact. ESG designations are as of the date of this material, and no assurance is provided that the underlying assets have maintained or will maintain any such designation or any stated ESG compliance. As a result, it is difficult to compare ESG investment products or to evaluate an ESG investment product in comparison to one that does not focus on ESG. Investors should also independently consider whether the ESG investment product meets their own ESG objectives or criteria. There is no assurance that an ESG investing strategy or techniques employed will be successful. Past performance is not a guarantee or a dependable measure of future results.

Buying, selling, and transacting in Bitcoin, Ethereum or other digital assets ("Digital Assets"), and related funds and products, is highly speculative and may result in a loss of the entire investment. Risks and considerations include but are not limited to: Digital Assets have only been in existence for a short period of time and historical trading prices for Digital Assets have been highly volatile. The price of Digital Assets could decline rapidly, and investors could lose their entire investment. Although any Digital Asset product and its service providers have in place significant safeguards against loss, theft, destruction and inaccessibility, there is nonetheless a risk that some or all of a product's Digital Asset could be permanently lost, stolen, destroyed or inaccessible by virtue of, among other things, the loss or theft of the "private keys" necessary to access a product's Digital Asset. Digital Assets may not have an established track record of credibility and trust. Further, any performance data relating to Digital Asset products may not be verifiable as pricing models are not uniform.

Accounts invested in the Select UMA program may also pay a separate Sub-Manager fee, if applicable.

If your account is invested in mutual funds or exchange traded funds (collectively "funds"), you will pay the fees and expenses of any funds in which your account is invested. Fees and expenses are charged directly to the pool of assets the fund invests in and are reflected in each fund's share price. These fees and expenses are an additional cost to you and would not be included in the Fee amount in your account statements. The advisory program you choose is described in the Morgan Stanley ADV.

Morgan Stanley or Executing Sub-Managers, as applicable, in some of Morgan Stanley's SMA programs may effect transactions through broker-dealers other than Morgan Stanley or our affiliates. In such instances, you may be assessed additional costs by the other firm in addition to the Morgan Stanley and Sub-Manager fees. Those costs will be included in the net price of the security, not separately reported on trade confirmations or account statements. Certain Sub-Managers have historically directed most, if not all, of their trades to outside firms. Information provided by Sub-Managers concerning trade execution away from Morgan Stanley is summarized at: www.morganstanley.com/wealth/investmentsolutions/pdfs/adv/sotresponse.pdf. For more information on trading and costs, please refer to the Morgan Stanley ADV or contact your Financial Advisor / Private Wealth Advisor.

GIMA Conflicts of Interest: Our business is subject to various conflicts of interest. For example, ideas and suggestions for which investment products should be evaluated by Global Investment Manager Analysis (GIMA) come from a variety of sources, including our MSWM Financial Advisors and their direct or indirect managers, and other business persons within MSWM or its affiliates. Such persons may have an ongoing business relationship with certain investment managers or mutual fund companies whereby they, MSWM or its affiliates receive compensation from, or otherwise related to, those investment managers or mutual funds or for which a portion of their clients' assets are already invested. Separately, certain strategies managed or sub-advised by us or our affiliates, including but not limited to MSIM and Eaton Vance Management ("EVM") and its investment affiliates, may be included in your account. See the conflicts of interest section in the applicable Morgan Stanley ADV brochure for a discussion of other types of conflicts that may be relevant to GIMA's evaluation of managers and funds. In addition, MSWM, Morgan Stanley & Co. LLC ("MS & Co."), managers and their affiliates provide a variety of services (including research, brokerage, asset management, trading, lending and investment banking services) for each other and for various clients, including issuers of securities that may be recommended for purchase or sale by clients or are otherwise held in client accounts, and managers in various advisory programs.

MSWM, managers, MS & Co., and their affiliates receive compensation and fees in connection with these services. MSWM believes that the nature and range of clients to which such services are rendered is such that it would be inadvisable to exclude categorically all these companies from an account.

Morgan Stanley charges each fund family we offer a mutual fund support fee, also called a "revenue-sharing payment," on client account holdings in fund families according to a tiered rate that increases along with the management fee of the fund so that lower management fee funds pay lower rates than those with higher management fees.
